Helping Hand Disability Advocate, LLC.

Hi neighbors, I'm Linda Lynch. My husband Tom and I are native New Yorkers who slowly moved westward, fell in love with Kingman and made our home here. Continuing as a consultant is Susan, retired after 28 years with Social Security contributing her perspective and knowledge of Social Security's internal process.

If you, a family member or a friend are disabled either physically and/or mentally, you have come to the right place! I am a non-attorney disability advocate. I specialize in and have been specifically trained to help those who are applying for Social Security Disability Insurance and Supplemental Security Income obtain needed benefits. I am authorized by the Social Security Administration to handle all issues relating to disability claims from the initial application through the Administrative Law Judge level and Appeals Council.

Our approach to Social Security disability cases enables us to complete your case with:

- Faster case decisions
- Improved chance of winning
- Lower cost for representation — no hidden fees
- Less work for the applicant
- Less emotional trauma for the claimant
- Helping Hand does not drag out your case in order to inflate our fee
- I will fight to get you the benefits you deserve as quickly as possible

The determination of eligibility to receive disability benefits is a medical decision based on the severity of your condition. How your condition is presented to Social Security is critical to the decision. Even if you suffer from an extremely serious medical impairment, your case may still be denied if the case is not presented properly.

Call 928-757-2500 and ask why a gallon of milk, potatoes, toenails and a high school football field could make a difference in winning your benefits. We make a compilation of all your doctors' records, diagnostic test results as well as obtain doctors statements when possible regarding your particular condition and inability to work. We will insure all forms are filled out in detail. Little things make a difference.

Ultimately all of these records and documents need to answer the one question Social Security has which is, Are you physically and mentally capable of doing a job that is generally available in the everyday world? This is where we prepare a written report, called a formal argument, detailing how your impairment prevents you from doing any job.

According to law, Social Security must consider this argument when making their decision. This greatly increases your chance of winning your benefits. Hiring an advocate is easy and it costs you nothing unless and until your case is won.

We care about your claim as if it were our own. This is your opportunity to determine if your case is strong enough to present to Social Security as well as how Helping Hand can strengthen and develop your case, increasing your chances of receiving cash benefits.

Helping Hand offers a free case review and free guidance service, providing answers to basic questions and helpful hints regarding the disability application process. Determine your chances of receiving Social Security disability benefits without cost or obligation. Don't wait to receive your hard-earned benefits. Call 928-757-2500 or 888-441-3014 today. We look forward to hearing from you.

Buying local stimulates the economy!

Injecting new money into local businesses by buying their products helps to stimulate the economy right across the country. And a healthy economy means greater purchasing power for all consumers. It also means low, competitive prices and quality jobs for the Canadian workforce.

Fair and equitable trade

The direct purchase of products which are manufactured or cultivated here ensures that the manufacturer, the farmer or the craftsman receives a fair and equitable price for their merchandise. Inversely, the manufacturer of an imported product often sees his profits gradually melt away due to the fact that his product must pass through many different hands before arriving on our store shelves.

Long term investment

Several studies also prove that businesses created here have a greater tendency to keep their factories and other installations in the community where they were first established. Large foreign enterprises on the other hand move regularly depending on what area can offer them the most inexpensive operating costs at that particular moment in time. By encouraging local businesses, consumers support those companies whose lasting presence in the community is virtually guaranteed.

And don't forget that investing in local business is to invest in the local population, maintaining levels of employment and creating new jobs. Finally, it is also interesting to note that local companies, supported and encouraged by local consumers, are more likely to offer financial support to community organizations and, in this way, give people in need a helping hand.

Buying local products means stimulating the local economy, creating jobs and injecting new money into local businesses.

Buying local... for the health of your community

Choosing to purchase and consume local products is a great way of committing yourself wholeheartedly to the community, contributing to its social and economic health as well as to its continuing development.

Creating local jobs

By buying products in your area, you will contribute to the economic health of local businesses. In this way, these businesses will have the opportunity to maintain their turnover or even increase it. By maintaining or increasing their productivity, they will keep their employees working and may even be able to create new jobs to meet extra demand. Your local purchases, however small they may be, could directly contribute to sustaining high levels of employment in your community. Who knows, it could be your father, your sister, your son, your best friend or your neighbor who benefits from new jobs created because of your choice to buy local!

Encouraging human contact

In this age of advanced technologies, where buying on-line is so easy and popular, contact with other human beings is valued much less than before. But this facet of our lives should be of great importance to us all, benefitting not only individuals but society as a whole. Buying products directly from the producer or manufacturer could allow you to develop a very special relationship with your local merchants. A bond of confidence and even friendship could flourish between you.

Finally, by contributing to the prosperity of local merchants and entrepreneurs, you will ensure that your community conserves its unique character, its special flavor, and ensure the continuing attraction of your region to visitors.

Buying local will make you an important player in your community.

Guaranteed quality

When the time comes to purchase manufactured products, choosing a local supplier is a sensible decision and ensures a guarantee of good quality. A local supplier must follow certain strict standards of quality and can tell you about all the different stages of production from the initial purchase of the product's components to all the finishing touches. This makes a locally-produced product our logical choice and the most advantageous one available to us.

Leading-edge production technologies

Profiting from leading-edge technologies in both their facilities and production methods, local factories and production lines produce higher quality articles than those manufactured in other countries. What's more, Canadian industries must follow very strict quality standards. These standards frequently do not exist in less industrialized countries where employees are often not as qualified and are submitted to terrible working conditions.

Products manufactured here are subject to very strict standards and are, therefore, of the highest quality.

Lower costs... fast delivery

A manufactured item produced close to where you live will, in most cases, be available at a lower cost if we consider that it will not have to be transported over long distances before being delivered into your hands. The lower cost of transportation compared with imported products should, therefore, have a positive influence on the final price of the product.

Moreover, large-size local products, which have shorter distances to travel to be delivered directly to your home, will arrive sooner than foreign products which are transported by plane or ship from the other side of the world.

Reduce your ecological footprint by buying local

Global warming, glaciers melting, reducing the levels of greenhouse gas... These days, we're all talking about the environment, its health, the dangers which menace it, our impact on the planet. While all around the world people search for ways to reduce their ecological footprint, one idea is gaining in popularity: buying local.

Fewer miles

Buying local has numerous advantages for our environment. First of all, items produced here help to reduce our production of greenhouse gases. It's evident that local products are transported over much shorter distances than products coming from other countries. Thus, with the reduction in transportation, whether by truck, ship, train or plane, products from here will do a lot less damage to the environment than items originating elsewhere.

Fewer pesticides

The consumption of local products also has certain other advantages for the environment. As well as traveling shorter distances, food items from here need fewer pesticides and preservation agents to keep them fresh before they appear on our kitchen tables.

Mass production or stock breeding facilities in other parts of the world often use this type of product, many of which are now banned in this country. These substances can alter the nature and the health of animal populations. Our local farmers have a greater tendency to favor natural and healthier methods of raising stock and cultivating crops.

Buying local can help to reduce our impact on the environment.

CARPET CONNECTION

Fox's Carpet Connection

Fox's Carpet Connection owner, George Fox found himself out of work, with a family of seven to support in 2006. Floor installation work was dwindling due to the economic slump and specifically in the Real Estate market, which was 80% of his work at the time. With over 26 years' experience in the flooring industry, George states he was forced into the flooring business because no one would give him a job during the slump. He bought some flooring, borrowed a friend's warehouse, and started offering his services! He has never looked back! George prides himself on excellent customer service. Follow through with his customers is as important as making the sale. Just good old fashioned prompt service with a smile, is his secret to continued business in Kingman and surrounding areas. "It's been 8 years and my customers have become repeat customers, and friends too, I really take pride in doing a good job from start to finish, whether it be a commercial or residential job", says George.

Buying local... and healthy!

The USDA recommends the consumption of 8 to 10 portions of fruit and vegetables every day. The more these foods are bursting with vitamins and nutrients, the healthier you'll be. But which fruits and vegetables on the shelves of your local grocery store or fruit and vegetable shop are the most nutritious? The answer to that is obvious: those which are produced locally!

Fresh = nutritious

The fresher fruits and vegetables are the more vitamins and other nutritious elements they will contain; and the longer the time lapse between harvesting and consumption, the fewer nutrients there will be. Local produce, having been transported over shorter distances before arriving at the store, will be much fresher than imported produce which has spent days or perhaps weeks in transit between the point of production and their point of sale. Packaging techniques and use of preserving agents to keep food fresh will alter the nutritional qualities of imported fruits and vegetables even more.

Moreover, in order to try and offer imported products which look as fresh as local products, foreign distributors will often harvest fruits and vegetables before they reach full maturity. This early harvest alters the nutritional qualities of these foods by not allowing them to fully develop.

More natural products

It should never be forgotten that the use of pesticides is strictly controlled in the cultivation of fruits and vegetables in this country. However, imported products run the risk of containing traces of chemical products which are harmful to our health.

Fruits and vegetables cultivated by your local farmer are fresh and bursting with vitamins!

Boyd's Outlaw Sleep Centers (New Location) 5 Times Bigger (Old Dairy Queen) 3146 Stockton Hill Rd - Next to Sears • 757-8500

Kingman resident Jerry Boyd opened Boyd's Outlaw Sleep Centers in 2004, the same year he married Lynda. Jerry has been in the mattress business since the 80's; starting out in sales and working up to sales trainer for a large Serta only mattress chain in Arizona.

The Boyd family has lived in Kingman for over 70 years and would live nowhere else. Over the years selling mattresses, Jerry has learned that just because it's a Serta, Simmons or Sealy, doesn't mean it's better. Recently, Jerry removed all his floor models, took down the Serta signs and brought in a less known brand, Spring Air, which has been in business 90 years! That's longer than Serta, Sealy or Simmons, and they don't spend millions on fancy brain washing T.V. ads. Besides Spring Air another less known brand is Chattam & Wells & they are a MUST SEE! We also offer Bed-in-a-Box; it is shipped U.P.S. anywhere in the U.S.A., come in and see them. Jerry has selected five less recognized brands out of thousands on the market today.

As of 2016, 756 mattress factories are registered in the U.S.A. Jerry warns you to stay clear of brands made in China and Vietnam. Come into the store and Jerry will tell you about those brands and give you their names. You will be shocked, they are brands we all grew up with. If they aren't using U.S.A. foams, chances are it's toxic chemicals.

"Outlaw" is a registered trade name and used as our marketing tool. "Here comes the outlaw", they would say. It's a nickname that Jerry acquired as a young man.

We still use our own trucks to go to L.A., just not as often. We have less problems with less known mattress brands. Therapedic is hand laminated, not mass produced and they stand behind their product for 20 years. The name brands are mass produced and only stand behind their product for 10 years. Furniture is arriving slowly as we transform into a furniture/mattress store. We have a new website in the making. We are a family owned business, not a franchise. We hired Crystal Welter to create a one of a kind e-commerce web site.

The Garlic Clove

Restaurant & Catering Co.

In 2013, Ron Campbell moved to Kingman from Michigan. Since moving here, he has opened his own restaurant and named it The Garlic Clove Restaurant and Catering Company. His business is located at 509 E Beale Street in Historic Downtown Kingman. The hours are 11:00 am till 9:00 pm Monday through Thursday and 11:00 am till 11:00 pm on Friday and Saturday.

Ron loves the Downtown area and is involved in the growth and development. He is an active member of the Downtown Merchants Association. His restaurant has won the Kingman Daily Miners readers award for Best Place to have a Business Lunch.

The lunch buffet is called "Soup, Salad and a Slice" and is becoming one of the most popular options for lunch. For only $7.95 you can have all you can eat! The salad bar consists of 20+ items and 8 choices of dressings. The soups are created by Chef Taraba and there are 4 Pizza options. This offer is from 11:00 – 2:00 Monday thru Saturday. You can call for reservations or to place a TOGO order. 928-753-4100.

The restaurant menu consists of many of your Italian Favorites including Chicken or Veal Parmesan, Lasagna, Ravioli and Meatballs. He invites you to come in and try the Palermo, Alcamo or any of the other great dishes. Feel like a Pizza? His hand Tossed or deep dish Pizza with homemade crusts and original recipe pizza sauce is something you will crave often! Ron believes that fresh ingredients and homemade Italian sauces are the reason that The Garlic Clove has quickly become one of the favorite Family Style Restaurants in Kingman.

The catering options are endless! From simple, yet beautiful Vegetable Trays to Baked Chicken with Rice Pilaf or even more extravagant dinners like Filet and Lobster, The Garlic Clove offers any menu and can accommodate any budget. We can cater any event at your location.

If you are looking for a banquet room for 15 - 35 guests, you can reserve our Backroom. We offer a custom menu for buffet or plated meals. Simple or Simply Elegant, our backroom is the perfect choice for any occasion.

THE GRAND EVENT CENTER

Ron Campbell proudly calls Kingman his home. Though he has only been here 3 years, he has quickly become known as a successful restaurateur and entrepreneur. He supports the Kingman Community and the Growth and Development of the Downtown area.

Through his restaurant and Catering Business, Ron has seen the need for an event center for groups, organizations and individuals to hold events, weddings, meetings and parties. He wanted to create a place that would be comfortable for smaller business meetings as well as large enough for 200 guests for receptions and dinners. The question was "Where?"

The answer? THE GRAND EVENT CENTER

Ron purchased 515 E Beale and has spent the last year renovating the building. With over 6000 square feet and a seated occupancy of 300, his vision is becoming a reality. His goal is to make event planning easy for his customers. The Grand Event Center offers tables, chairs, decorations, dishes, linen and catering all in one stop. There is a Brides Room, A dance Floor, Handicap accessibility and many other features to accommodate the needs of small or large groups.

The Grand Event Center has a party planner on staff to help make sure all of the details are taken care of. Dora Manley has 20+ years experience with party planning and event organizing. From baby showers to Festivals and every occasion in between, Dora is ready to assist you with your party needs.

PRO-TINT OF KINGMAN

Pro tint of Kingman, LLC, is a window tinting business that specializes in window tint for automobiles, homes and commercial buildings. The business is owned and operated by Rob Smith, who has been tinting windows since 1987.

By now most people are aware that prolonged exposure to sunlight can lead to skin cancer. But what most people don't realize is that being inside your home, business, or automobile doesn't mean you are protected from the sun's rays. In fact, untreated glass does very little to protect your skin from cancer causing UV rays. The Skin Cancer Foundation recently awarded its "Seal of Recommendation" to the 3M Window Film products we install, as effective UV protectants. These products, when applied to windows in vehicles and homes, block up to 99.9% of the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays and help to reduce the risk of sun-induced damage to the skin, including sunburn, premature aging and skin cancer.

New in town?

Discover your new neighborhood

Moving can be a huge upheaval, for adults as well as children: new surroundings, new routines, new friends. According to several studies, moving is the third most stressful event after mourning and job loss. If you have moved recently, here are a few tips to help you adapt to your new surroundings.

Municipal websites and local newspapers can't be beaten as ways of finding out all you need to know about all the services and activities on offer, such as swimming pool and library opening hours, summer festival programs, and sports and cultural facilities.

Next, visit the downtown area on foot. Even in suburbs, there is likely a commercial core somewhere. Frequenting by residents and visitors alike, town centers are the place to find shops, cafés, and restaurants. Chatting with people at these places can open up many possibilities. Another good idea is to spend some time discovering the broader area on a bicycle or on a public bus.

Get to know your neighbors by inviting them for a housewarming party. This kind of get-together, big or small, will give your children the opportunity to feel more at ease in their new surroundings, and your new neighbors will certainly appreciate this type of thoughtfulness.

Finally, before school starts, look for clubs that your children may be interested in joining. This will allow them to make friends and to fit in more quickly. Another way to help your kids is to show them, well in advance, the route they will take between home and school. See if neighbors can put your children in touch with others in the area, with whom they can walk to school.

The Salvation Army has gone through many changes since its inception 150 years ago; as has the local Salvation Army here in Kingman. When Service Center Director Troy Palmer took a hard look at the organization in early 2014, he saw an immediate opportunity for improvement. "Our location on Beale Street was just too large. The overhead required just to open the doors had begun to detract from the funds available for the services needed in our community. We knew by downsizing, we'd be able to increase our services offered and make progress on our commitment to Doing the Most Good" in Kingman.

Now, after moving in to their new building located at 1200 E Andy Devine Ave. in early 2015, they've begun to refocus their services towards the needs of the community. Offering everything from supplemental food and hot meals to clothing and utilities, The Salvation Army is better prepared to positively impact those in need.

"We've got a great base of supporters, and are looking at exciting new ways to inspire others in our community to be involved as well" says Palmer. With a Fall Pumpkin Festival in the works and corporate opportunities for Holiday Kettle volunteers coming soon, The Salvation Army is settling in to a more active, impactful year in the Kingman community.

"While women weep as they do now, I'll fight; While little children go hungry as they do now, I'll fight; While men go to prison, in and out, in and out, as they do now, I'll fight; While there is a drunkard left, I'll fight; While there is a poor girl upon the streets, I'll fight; While there remains one dark soul without the light of God, I'll fight; I'll fight to the very end."

Jim's House of Glass 2445 Airway Ave 757-1171

Jim's House of Glass is proudly celebrating 31 years in business and is still tailoring its services to the needs of its customers. "We can fill all of your glass needs. If we don't have it, we'll find it for you," says proud owner Jim Maberry.

With more than 116 years accumulated experience, Jim's offers auto, commercial and residential glass repair and replacement. What does that mean? It means new mirrors and shower enclosures for your bathroom or remodeling project. It means window screens to help keep out the critters. It means quality security doors. "We also have screen doors that will last more than one summer," Jim says. "Is it time to change your old windows? We can take care of that also!"

Jim's House of Glass features wardrobe doors, medicine cabinets and replacement parts for patio doors and windows. They do all types of auto glass, even coming to your home or job to replace your windshield to help make it more convenient for you.

"Customer service and satisfaction is our number one priority and goal. We attribute a lot of our customer satisfaction to the atmosphere we have here as a company." Jim's employees are about the pickiest in town, and it shows in the work they perform. Jim's House of Glass stands behind their work. They've been in Kingman longer than any glass shop.

Jim's House of Glass is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Come by and say "Hi."
