DID YOU KNOW?

Money can rip your family apart. Families are routinely torn apart by the failure to create an estate plan. Without an estate plan, you have just flung the door open to welcome probate, family jealousy, opportunistic lawyers, creditors, and crippling taxes into your family's life. If you don't have an estate plan, it's time to get one. If you have one, it's vital to review it. If you own real estate or a business, have been divorced, have heirs or relatives with special needs, or face any unspoken risk of litigation, you've got to have an estate plan. I work with attorneys and accountants to put estate plans in place.
